About Us

The ACA Foundation Ltd is a registered charity affiliated with the Australasian Corrosion Association Ltd. (ACA). Established to support the corrosion community, the Foundation raises funds to provide scholarships, bursaries, and awards aimed at advancing knowledge and management of corrosion prevention. It is registered with the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) and the Australian Securities and Investments Commission (ASIC), ensuring that donations are tax-deductible.

KEY INITIATIVES

OF THE ACA FOUNDATION

1. Scholarships and Bursaries

In collaboration with the ACA, the Foundation offers annual scholarships to assist members in attending training courses or the Annual Corrosion & Prevention Conference. These scholarships are made possible through the generous support of corporate partners and aim to foster professional development across all sectors of the corrosion industry.

2. Educational Outreach

The Foundation invests in future leader development and supports special projects targeting corrosion education in secondary education and the broader community.

ELEVATE YOUR BRAND AND SUPPORT THE CORROSION INDUSTRY

Become an ACA Foundation Award Sponsor

As a corporate sponsor of the ACA Foundation Awards, your organisation will play a pivotal role in supporting the corrosion industry while gaining significant visibility.

Through funding the ACA Foundation, you will provide essential awards for conference attendance, ACA or AMPP training courses, and other key initiatives, making a tangible impact on the industry's growth and future.

Sponsorship of the ACA Foundation Awards also offers your company prominent exposure, as the awards are promoted across the ACA & Foundation websites, in our journal, Corrosion & Materials, and at various ACA branch functions throughout Australia and New Zealand. The awards are named in honour of your organisation and can be presented either as individual awards or over multiple years

Why Sponsor?

Your involvement as a sponsor will:

- Showcase your company's commitment to the fight against corrosion and to science education in the community.
- Increase brand visibility through promotion on ACA platforms including our website, journal, newsletters, and events across the year.
- Give you a unique opportunity to be directly associated with the development of future corrosion professionals and industry leaders.
- Support the long-term goals of the ACA Foundation by providing scholarships that bear your organisation's name.

We invite you to help us advance the goals of the ACA Foundation by offering a scholarship award in your organisation's name.
